

Chicago Tribune NEWS

Beautiful art

(Antonio Perez/Chicago Tribune / October 18, 2011)

Nurse Ashley Giblin checks on Nataly Gamez, 5, a patient at Comer Children's Hospital at the University of Chicago as she uses a paint roller to create art that will be part of a larger public art collaboration to be displayed on a government building at State Street. The project is organized by Portraits of Hope.