

THE PLAIN DEALER

BREAKING NEWS: CLEVELAND.COM ★★★★★ 41¢ HOME DELIVERY | 50¢ NEWSSTAND

THURSDAY, MAY 24, 2007

BUSINESS

FLOWERS FOR NEW YORK

LISA DEJONG | THE PLAIN DEALER

Children from area schools painted flowers on vinyl panels Wednesday as part of a public art project to dress up New York City's taxis. "Garden in Transit" is being organized nationwide by the nonprofit Portraits of Hope to coincide with the 100th anniversary of New York's metered taxis. Zachary Wozzsky, 6, a kindergartner at Cleveland's Newton D. Baker Elementary School of Arts, works on one of about 200 panels the local children painted near Jacobs Field. MACTac in Stow, a manufacturer of self-adhesive products, donated the vinyl panels. MACTac is a subsidiary of the Bemis Co. of Wisconsin.